I am using:

```
```

to do this but I keep on getting a `System.IO.FileNotFoundException` `FileNotFoundException: Could not find file 'C:\Users\Luke\Desktop\Image.jpg'`. I have tried switching the order of the arguments but that has not helped, can anyone help me please? A: The error comes from the fact that the `imageStream` is a `byte[]`, but you are asking for a `String`, therefore you're getting the error :

```
System.IO.File.WriteAllBytes(@"C:\upload\Image.jpg", imageStream);
```

In order to resolve this, you will want to convert your `byte[]` into a string representation. In order to do so, simply convert the `byte[]` to a string using the `ToString()` method :

```
System.IO.File.WriteAllBytes(@"C:\upload\Image.jpg", imageStream.ToString());
```

Q: Magento 2: Import data from a.sql file For a fresh install, I have a MySQL dump that includes hundreds of tables. I've had to do the following to import/load the data: Create the database, schema, and user (and give them the correct permissions).
